Progress Slowed Up Somewhat By Strenuous Resistance Of Germans.

FRESH TROOPS ARE RUSHED FORWARD

Half Million Teutons Are Hurried Into Breach To Prevent Disaster.

(International News Service.)

Paris, April 20.—While one section of Gen. Neville's French army repulsed violent German attacks in Champagne last night, other detachments drove against the Teutonic lines north of the Aisne river, capturing more trenches.

Theives Take L. & N. Switch Locks; Guard Placed Over Road

Night Operator at Ardmore Is Also Held Up by Armed Men Who Secure $9.

As a result of some miscreant taking all the switch locks off the Louisville & Nashville railroad from Les- ters to Veto several nights ago, a guard is now stationed over that portion of the track, according to reliable information reaching here today. There is no clue to the perpetrators of the outrage.

The discovery of the disappearance of the locks followed a hold-up Tuesday of Addison B. McClure, night operator of the L. & N. at Ardmore, a little station just south of Pulaski, by two armed white men who secured $9 in cash from the railroad cash drawer and the operator's watch. Two white men were arrested at Wheeler by officers, but one escaped, a pistol being found on the man who was jailed. There is said to be nothing, however, to connect this man with the robbery or the disappearance of the switch locks.

Whether the locks were taken with the intention of wrecking a train is not known.

Soldier On Guard Shoots His Own Toe

Excitement Created by Accident on Tennessee River Bridge.

Much excitement in the vicinity of the Southern Railway bridge over the Tennessee river was created this morning when Joe Pitts, a soldier of Company B, Second Alabama Infantry, guarding the bridge, accidentally discharged his heavy calibre army rifle, shooting his toe.

The steel jacketed bullet from the 30-calibre rifle made a clean hole through the lad's toe, but did not even shatter the bone. He was brought across the bridge by his companions on a handcar and taken to the camp, where he was given medical attention. The wound is slight and will cause the soldier no trouble, it is thought.

Private Pitts is from Union town, Ala.

DECATUR COUNCIL DEFERS ELECTION

WILL NAME NEW MEMBER OF SCHOOL BOARD AT NEXT REGULAR MEETING.

Routine business was disposed of by the Decatur city council in regular session at the city hall last night. The council decided to postpone the election of a member of the school board to succeed Jos. H. Calvin until a full meeting of the board can be had. Mr. Calvin's term of office expired several weeks ago and either he or some other citizen will be elected for the new term at the next meeting of the council.

MEETING CALLED.

Special meeting of the Albany council is called for tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

(International News Service.) London, April 20.—Although the progress of the Anglo-French armies has slowed up at some points, Field Marshal Haig and Gen. Neville continue to hammer holes in the wings of the Hindenburg line.

Since the British opened the joint drive on April 9 with their assaults on the Arras front, the allies have captured nearly 35,000 prisoners and nearly 500 guns from the Teutons.

Losses of such magnitude have been inflicted on the German armies between the Loos-Lens sector in the Argonne forest that Von Hindenburg has had to rush 500,000 fresh troops to the imperiled parts of the western front.

Never for an instant, day or night, does the pressure relax around Lens and St. Quentin.

BIG GARRISON MENACED. (International News Service.) Paris, April 20.—Advances by the French within the past 24 hours seriously menace the big German garrison at Alzy, which is five miles southwest of the German fortress of Laon, and one of the chief positions of the defense of Laon on the western side. The position is now being pounded by the French.

From St. Quentin to Auberive Gen. Neville's armies continue to drive against the German lines, occupying fresh grounds and repulsing strong counter attacks launched by Teutonic reinforcements.

FRESH GROUND WON BY BRITISH UNDER HAIG. (International News Service.) London, April 20.—Field Marshal Haig's British army has lashed out again against the Germans defending the Cambrai-St. Quentin front.

In the sector of Villers-Guislain the British made powerful assaults last night, winning fresh ground, the war office announced. This is the second strong British blow in this region within a week. There were heavy artillery duels along the front.

A dispatch from Amsterdam quotes the Telegraf as saying that strikes have broken out in the great munition works at Essen.

GERMANS HOPE YET TO TO BRING GREECE IN WAR. (International News Service.) Geneva, April 20.—With the allies on the offensive on the western front the Germans have begun a drive in Macedonia. Dispatches received here today indicated that Germany has not yet lost hope of bringing Greece into the war on her side. The attacks on the Macedonian front are believed to be for political effect as well as military mastery.

Cooper Adams Stands The Army Examination

Is Notified That He Will Be Appointed a Second Lieutenant After May 1. John Cooper Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Adams of Albany, has received notice from the war department that he has successfully stood the examination for second lieutenant in the army and will receive his commission shortly after May 1. Mr. Adams passed the rigid examination with flying colors, making a high average. He possesses all the qualifications for army service, and his career will be watched with interest by his many friends here.

There is a propeller on each end of the submarine; when the boat submerges a lever causes the rear propeller to rise to perpendicular and the front propeller to descend simultaneously.

ALBANY HOME GUARD FORMALLY ORGANIZED

Officers Named By Mayor Payne Who Is By Official Position Commander-In-Chief.

Adopting the plan outlined by the National Committee of Patriotic and Defense Societies, the body authorized by the war department to recruit men for home duty in the event that the state guardsmen are ordered to the battle front, the Albany Home Guards were formally organized at a meeting held last night in the offices of the Alabama Water Co. and presided over by Mayor E. C. Payne.

Mayor Payne occupies the same relation to the home guard that the governor does to the state guard, and the president to the army. He carried out the wishes of the meeting by naming the officers of the guards. Those appointed, all of whom have had valuable military experience with the exception of the sergeants, are as follows:

Platoon A: Captain, W. E. Steed; lieutenant, Henry R. Davis; sergeant, A. T. Hanson.

Platoon B: Captain, Joe M. Potley; lieutenant, R. C. Hubbard; sergeant, H. D. Harkreader.

The meeting adopted the plan of the National Committee of Patriotic and Self Defense Societies, which is pronounced a model working arrangement by Captain Halstead and other officers of the Alabama National Guard now stationed here. In its entirety, and voted to organize two platoons of 25 men each. These platoons will be recruited from the men of Albany who are not subject to first call. Men between the ages of 19 and 25 will be excluded, as they will be the first called to the colors after the army bill now pending in congress is passed.

Other Officers.

The plan adopted provides for a major and an adjutant, who will be elected later. This will allow for promotions of present officers and also for the stepping up of privates and corporals.

The platoons will be made up of three squads, each squad to be composed of 7 privates and one corporal. The plan calls for the enlistment of 56 men in all, which includes the present officers and the two yet to be named.

To Have Equipment.

The organization is to be supplied with regular military equipment, including uniforms and rifles. Mayor Payne was named a committee of one to make request of the war department for the use of the rifles discarded by Company E shortly after being called to the Mexican border. The executive tendered the use of the armory for the new organization, and all equipment will be stored there when not in use.

Following out the national plan, the mayor was authorized to name a finance committee to raise funds for the purchase of equipment. As the guard serves without compensation and for the protection of the property of all citizens, it was pointed out that the financial burden should be (Continued on Page Four.)

AMERICA DAY IS OBSERVED BY BRITISH PEOPLE

FOR FIRST TIME IN HISTORY OLD GLORY FLOATS OVER PARLIAMENT BUILDING.

(International News Service.) London, April 20.—This is "America Day" in the United Kingdom.

King George and Queen Mary took part in ceremonies celebrating the entrance of the United States into the war.

Everywhere in London the Stars and Stripes were in evidence today and Old Glory floated from parliament building for the first time in history.

The king and queen attended religious services in St. Paul, commemorating the intervention of America on the side of "freedom and human rights." They drove to the cathedral through streets that blazed with the red, white and blue.

All the important buildings are decorated, most of them having the Stars and Stripes and the union jack intertwined. At St. Paul's the United States was represented by Walter Hinds Page, the American ambassador.

Newspapers commenting upon "America Day" declare that England and the United States are more closely related today than ever before.

Italy Wants Slice Of American Loan

(International News Service.) Rome, April 20.—Italy has opened negotiations with the allies on the advisability of sending a commission to the United States, it was learned here today.

It is reported that Italy is anxious to make an independent loan in America.

Moulton Alarmed At Wild Reports Of Sea Battles

It was along about 9 o'clock last night that a citizen of Moulton called up the Daily office on the telephone. Louis E. Boeglen was the only man "on the job" at the time and hastened to respond to the jangling of the telephone bell. He was asked for the war news, and replied in substance that the United States of America was still on the map, that the food riots were as yet confined largely to Berlin and that the American eagle was not too hoarse to scream.

"We heard over here that a German submarine had captured an American battleship and that the Kaiser's men were bombarding New York," said the voice on the other end of the wire. Assurances to the contrary were given.

RUSS SITUATION CAUSES CONCERN; PEACE RUMORED

STRONG AGITATION AT PETROGRAD FOR SEPARATE PEACE.

(International News Service.) Buenos Aires, April 20.—The Spanish legation at Rio Janeiro has received a cipher message saying that Russia has signed an armistice with Germany, according to a telegram from the Brazilian capital this afternoon.

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—The Russian situation is causing concern to officials here. Failure of the provisional government to reconcile the differences between itself and the radicals is interfering with the reorganization of the Russian army.

In addition, the socialistic element is known to be intriguing against the provisional government and utilizing all its efforts in advocacy of making a separate peace with Germany.

While officials believe that eventually a solid government will be formed in Russia, they are not losing sight of the fact that the present situation is filled with dangerous possibilities.

Meanwhile Petrograd advises indicate that Germany shortly will attempt a drive directly against the Russian capital.

It is hoped that when the international conference gets down to business here—just when is a secret known only to the state department—it will be possible to get an outline of the general questions that will be discussed.

GERMANS BATTLE WITH BRAZILIANS

SHARP FIGHTING IS REPORTED WHEN HYPHENATES START TROUBLE.

(International News Service.) Buenos Aires, April 20.—Fighting has taken place between Germans and Brazilians on the Uruguyan-Brazil border, according to information received here today from Montevideo.

The dispatch follows: "Telephone advices say that refugees are fleeing into Uruguay from Brazil as the result of fighting between Germans and Brazilians. The Uruguyan government is rushing troops to the border to prevent the entry of armed bodies."

It is reported from Rio Janeiro that the Federation of Labor has notified the government that workmen will refuse to fight if war is declared. The labor men, it is declared, told the government it "could do better by providing work for the idle."

German agents in Chile have resumed their activities, says a telegram from Santiago. Pro-entente forces here are planning an anti-German rally for tomorrow.

Reports that the Brazilian steamer Belen had been torpedoed by a German submarine in the Mediterranean has aroused war excitement still higher in Rio Janeiro.

COLOMBIA MAY FIGHT.

Bogota, Colombia, April 19, via Colon, April 20.—It is expected that President Gomez will ask congress to press Colombia's attitude on the war when congress convenes tomorrow. Pro-entente forces are working hard to have Colombia enter the war on the side of the allies.

U. S. Ambassador Elkus Has Typhus

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—Ambassador A. I. Elkus is suffering from an attack of typhus, the state department was informed in the report from the American embassy at Constantinople today.

The message said the attack was a mild one, the disease apparently being contracted during a visit to the soup kitchens.

CONSCRIPTION BILL IS BEFORE SENATE; DELAY CENSOR LAW

Senate Members Fight To a Finish Over One Piece Legislation

HOUSTON FAVORS FIXING FOOD PRICES

Conferees Agree on Seven Billion Dollar Bond Issue; To Raise Taxes

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—Conscription will be before the senate before the day closes. This became apparent when the senate convened today and Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, chairman of the military affairs committee, in charge of the administration's draft measure, obtained the consent of Senator Overman, in charge of the espionage bill, to lay his measure aside for the draft bill.

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—The battle in the senate over the censorship provision of the administration's espionage bill has produced a complete blockade of all other war measures now awaiting congressional action. Included in the measures halted in the tie-up are the general staff selective draft bill; the bill doubling the enlisted strength of the navy; embargo bills and the bill to commandeer craft for naval purposes. Despite the pressure for quick action on the war measures, the opposition to the censorship bill is determined to fight to a finish. Administration leaders hope to reach a vote late today.

FIGHT CONTINUES ON THE CONSCRIPTION BILL.

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—President Wilson and his advisers today are seeking the support of members of congress actively opposed to the army bill recommended by a majority of the house military affairs committee.

With the house in recess until Monday, the administration forces hope to bring about sufficient backing to insure the substitution of the bill providing for selective conscription.

HOUSE COMMITTEE MEETS TO PLAN TAX RAISE.

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—Complete harmony marked the first meeting of the house ways and means committee which today began consideration of the best way to raise war taxes during the next year.

The committee had before it the task of so adjusting income and internal revenue taxes as to yield an additional $1,800,000,000 of revenue by the close of the fiscal year 1918. This will be the first year's tax toll necessitated by America's entrance into the world war.

Because Chairman Kitchin and other members of the committee had to attend a conference with senators on the bond issue bill the initial meeting of the ways and means committee was cut short. A recess was taken until late this afternoon.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF FOOD PRICES URGED.

(International News Service.) Washington, April 20.—Government control and regulation of the prices of food for the period of the war appeared probable today. In a communication to the senate Secretary of Agriculture Houston recommended that in cases of emergency the government shall have the power "to purchase, store and dispose of food products to groups of people or communities organized in some form, and to fix maximum and minimum prices."

The situation now confronting the nation, Secretary Houston advised the senate, is serious. Production must be increased.

"Perhaps the power for fixing food prices should be lodged with the Council of National Defense," continued the report.

It is reported that the mere existence of such power would make action unnecessary. The government should have full discretion in the matter.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BLOW UP STATE HOUSE OF OHIO

(International News Service.) Columbus, O., April 20.—An attempt to blow up the state house became known today. Parts of an electrical contrivance designed to fire off dynamite, now in the hands of Maj. T. J. Barry, Third regiment, Ohio National Guard, was discovered by W. H. McCann, a teamster in the employ of the state.

McCann said he saw a stranger placing the explosive device in a basement window immediately into the office of State Treasurer Bryan, where millions of dollars in securities are kept. When he saw his movements were being watched, the man grabbed a big black box and ran.

Ben Bloodworth Is Assigned To Post

Daily Attache Is Stationed at Newport, Rhode Island.

Benjamin Bloodworth, member of the editorial staff of the Albany-Decatur Daily, who enlisted in the United States navy at Secretary Daniels' call for recruits, is now stationed at Newport, R. I., according to a letter received by relatives today. Mr. Bloodworth spent last Saturday in New York visiting his sister, Miss Clutia Bloodworth, who is a student at Columbia University.

Albert Roberts, another local boy who left here at the same time, has successfully passed a second examination and is now stationed at Norfolk, Va. He will shortly be assigned to a U. S. warship.

These local boys will be in the thick of any naval engagements that may be fought off the Atlantic coast.

THE DANGERS OF A TOO RIGID CENSORSHIP.

Congress, like the general public, is divided in its views regarding the lengths to which the military censorship should be established during the war. The Republicans have even made the pending bill a party measure and are giving it united support. This is not in itself a guarantee of excellence, but it is a healthy sign that the nation is not to go mad in the hour of crisis and trade away all the rights that are the heritage of the people.

A reasonable censorship—one that will withhold from the enemy information that could be used to advantage against the United States—is absolutely necessary. An unreasonable censorship—one that would cloak with darkness the doings and machinations of a group of men with ulterior purposes to serve—would be more than a national menace.

In Great Britain—where liberty is less loved than in America—the powerful Northcliffe newspapers forced the government to modify the censorship at first established. These great organs of publicity compelled the abandonment of the fruitless attempt to force the Dardenelles. They did more than that—they forced the retirement from high position of a number of incompetents whose places were filled with men of real ability.

In the Spanish-American war the hue and cry that the press raised against "embalmed beef" saved the government millions of dollars and spared the lives of many brave men who had gone out to fight for their flag—not to furnish a market for rotting foods.

In the present war, unless the spotlight of publicity is turned on in high places, there will be odious blunders and glaring scandals. Tricksters will invoke this new weapon not only for their own enrichment, but for the spoliation of the people.

The American press has been the "palladium of liberty" in a real sense. Men who fear the devil but little and the laws less shrink from exposure and the certain retribution that it brings. There are many of these in public and private life who have worked consistently and cunningly against a free expression of speech. They will see in the present national exigency an opportunity to further a purpose in the name of patriotism.

It is well enough to remember that there will be a United States of America after the war. That America must be a land of tolerance and enlightenment. Before encroachments upon the people's rights are allowed, it would be well to first find out if they are likely to become chronic.

AFRO-AMERICANS ARE LOYAL TO UNCLE SAM.

If there is any doubt as to how the rank and file of the solid negro citizenship of the Twin Cities and Morgan county stand on the subject of Americanism, it should be dispelled by the resolutions which were adopted Wednesday night at the negro mass meeting at the Lyceum theatre.

The language of the resolutions, carefully prepared by a well known negro leader, resents in strong terms even the implication that the negroes are listening to the seductive chants of the German agents who are evidently working in this territory under the guise of labor agents. The resolutions further call on the proper authorities to see that these reports are, thrashed out to the end that the truth be known or idle rumors hushed.

The Albany-Decatur Daily was probably the first paper in Alabama to call the public attention to the fact more than one year ago that while the negroes are called Afro-Americans, the hyphen does not belong there. There is no hyphenism among the negroes. They are Americans to the core. It has well been pointed out that a negro never was found among the traitors to country and that they are among the best soldiers.

The Daily has taken little stock in the oft-repeated rumors that there is something wrong with the negroes—something that has gone wrong since the trouble started with Germany. If there is anything really wrong with the negroes it is because of economic conditions and not because of any lack of patriotism. There may be foolish negroes—just as there are foolish white men—who set their mouths to running and forget about it so that foolish and senseless statements are made about the war and conditions that may follow war, but the Daily is firm in the belief that the negroes are loyal and true to the government and its policies.

When the call to arms sounds it will be found that the negroes are ready and willing to do what they can for their country. That day will soon sound and the truth of this statement will be amply fulfilled.

THE "SKIRT HIDERS."

There is something more than poetic justice in the felling of the war department that the "skirt hiders" will come in for their full share of military service. This was a genuine American ruling, one in keeping with the traditions of the nation; one that will have the approval of every red-blooded citizen, who, while deploring war, declines to save his scalp at the expense of some dainty darling who happens to be so unfortunate as to have succumbed to his wiles.

"The fair deserve the brave" is a trite saying that contains merit. Leaders in the feminist movement would probably paraphrase by declaring that the fair are the brave. It must be admitted that the woman who leaves the parental roof in times like these and trusts her fate to a man who is running away from obligations possesses more than a reasonable share of temerity. Only a mouse, duly intoxicated, could be expected to take such chances.

For the "skirt hider"—the youth who flies to matrimony as a haven of refuge in the time of military storm—there is no sympathy. As good as he deserves to be extinguished on the gory field in order that the pension he leaves behind may enable a charming widow to support a real husband in the manner to which he has been accustomed.

Robinson's Circus Coming Tomorrow

John Robinson's circus, the old reliable, will show in the Twin Cities tomorrow and a great crowd from the surrounding country is expected to take advantage of the gala event. A street parade will be given Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock on the principle streets of the cities and two performances, one in the afternoon and the other at night, will be given.

AN INVASION BY SUBMARINES!

No one would have dreamed of the war coming so close to our doors at such an early date, until this morning, when the news came down the wires that Second avenue had been bombarded. So startling was the news that the Albany-Decatur Daily gave the item a half-page write-up on the back page of today's issue. (Adv.)

Ringing Resolutions Pledging Loyalty Passed By Negroes

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the negroes of Morgan county in mass meeting at the Lyceum theatre on Wednesday night, April 18:

"Resolved, by the Colored Citizens of Morgan County, in Mass Meeting Assembled:

"That the United States is our native land; that we have no other country; that we re-affirm our allegiance thereto and acknowledge no superior in loyalty and fidelity to the land of our birth, to its principles, its institutions, its traditions, its ideals, purposes and hopes.

"Resolved, That we do not make haste to exploit the warlike and heroic deeds of our race in defense of our common country from Bunker Hill to Carrizal; those deeds are a part and parcel of our country's history, and were but the performance of a duty that every citizen owes, and that calls for no especial credit;

"Resolved, That we will not consider ourselves as separated from our fellow citizens by considerations of race, color or previous condition; that a wrong and injustice done to one, the humblest among Americans, is a wrong and injustice done to all; that for the preservation and integrity of our government and its amended constitution we will do the best we can under our circumscribed and limited abilities; that with our brothers in white we will fight, and with them we can but die; and with them in this necessary and noble purpose we are ready to die;

"Resolved, That the present, a supreme crisis in our nation's history, involving the very existence of our government and the national honor, is not the time or occasion, nor is it lawful or equitable, for any citizen, or class of citizens, to propose as a condition precedent for loyal and patriotic support of their government, the redress of grievances or the promise thereof; the duty that lies near us is the full measure of patriotic zeal, directed towards guarding our country's safety and welfare; that done, the reciprocal obligation resting upon a grateful and preserved government arises.

"Resolved, That we have an unfaltering trust that the national spirit of justice is deeply resident in the American people; that soon or late the spirit will assert itself, that the lex non scripta will be more powerful in its influence to promote justice and all the humane virtues than all the laws that may be written on the statute books; that justice will reign at home and abroad; that God moves in a mysterious way His wonders to perform."

"Resolved, That we recognize the national necessity for a military training school for all American youth; we regard it as a means of preparedness for national defense; that it is of immediate need and pressing necessity, that we urge upon the president and the congress now in session that immediate legislation be enacted providing such an establishment for military training for the colored youth of the United States.

"Resolved, That the colored citizen resents the implication that they are listening to German agents, Mexican agents, enemy agents, who are alleged to be trying to seduce them from the paths of loyalty to their government, which assertions appear at recurring periods in some newspapers of the country; that such allegations, whether they are born of ardent desire for national victory, or spring from sinister and cruel purpose, are repudiated with all the strength of our being; the colored American has developed no Benedict Arnold, and we pray God he never will.

"Therefore, Resolved, That the respective United States attorneys and state prosecuting officers are hereby requested to instigate a thorough investigation of such charges, summoning editors and reporters of such newspapers as publish such charges to give evidence of the truth of their statements to the end that the guilty may be apprehended and punished, or idle reports cease.

"Resolved further, That every colored citizen will promptly report to the most convenient state or federal official any person, who, directly or indirectly, suggests such treasonable conduct.

"Resolved, That to the president of the United States from our humble and distant station, we pledge faithful support and zealous performance in bringing victory and honor to American arms, and to the American people we promise to improve every opportunity placed within our reach to bring added glory to American valor and to ourselves imperishable fame, in the defense of our common country."

The resolutions were offered by H. V. Caskin, well known negro lawyer.

THINKING HIS END WAS NEAR R. H. BELL MADE OUT HIS WILL

WAS SO HELPLESS COULDN'T TURN OVER IN BED—GAINS 30 POUNDS ON TANLAC.

"Along last spring I was taken down with a bad spell of gripe. I got so bad off I had to take to my bed and I was down for six weeks. I also had rheumatism and suffered with my kidneys and I was so nervous and full of misery I couldn't sleep and many a night I would sit up in a chair nearly all night long.

"After I got down in bed I sent for the doctor, but got no relief, as his medicine didn't seem to suit my case. I lost my appetite and couldn't even keep milk and eggs on my stomach. I was in bed six weeks and never got out at all. Along toward the last I got so weak I couldn't even turn over in bed. To tell you the truth, I was a sick man and thought I was going to die. Finally the doctors told me I would have to go to the hospital, so I closed up my business and made my will; for I couldn't see much chance of getting well.

"Now this is just the shape I was in when I decided to try Tanlac, and I sent my daughter for the first three bottles. Now, just think of it, that three bottles of Tanlac got me up and able to work and you can believe me or not, but in just thirty days after I started on it I had gained thirty pounds in weight, which is an average of one pound a day.

Now when a medicine will do things like that I think the people ought to know about it, and I want to say right now that I will take pleasure in

British Commission Grows In Numbers

Washington, April 20.—The state department today announced an additional list of members of the international British commission which will arrive here soon to discuss with American officials the conduct of the war.

Included in the list were representatives from the war office, the blockade department, the wheat commission, the department of munitions, and the department of supplies and transports.

telling anybody what Tanlac has done for me, because I feel it my duty to let it be known. Not only that, but anything I can do for you people, I will feel a pleasure in doing it, for your medicine has got me up and out again. I am working regular every day, making $4.00 a day as a marble setter and making a good living for my family, after I hadn't been able to strike a lick all summer.

"Altogether I have taken six bottles, but I was able to work three miles after finishing my third bottle. I guess a good many people will hear about my case and if they don't believe what they read in the papers, just tell them to come and see me and I will be glad to tell them all about it."

The above remarkable statement was made by Roan H. Bell, a well known marble setter, who lives at 925 Halcyon avenue, Waverly Place, Nashville, Tenn., and is highly respected by all who know him.

Tanlac is sold in Albany exclusively by Preult-Dillehay Drug Co.; in Decatur by Decatur Drug Co.; in Trinity by O. E. Young Drug Co.; in Flint by C. E. Poole & Co.; in Priceville by J. E. Matthews; in Sonerville by W. T. Ransom, and in Danville by B. S. Stover. (Adv.)

German Name Gets Cincinnati Man In Trouble Here—But!

Because his name was Ben Lingenfelter and he hailed from Cincinnati, the city of German-Americans, a popular traveling man thought he had been arrested on the charge of being an alien enemy yesterday afternoon when he alighted at the Decatur depot from a southbound Louisville & Nashville train from Cincinnati.

The whole scheme was concocted in the fertile brain of Postmaster Wm. E. Crawford, of Decatur, an old time friend of Mr. Lingenfelter in the days when the big postmaster used to run a big store for men on Bank street. Mr. Lingenfelter, who travels for an Ohio tailoring house, wired Mr. Crawford that he would be in Decatur again yesterday for the first time in five years.

In planning a reception for the Cincinnati Mr. Crawford did not overlook the possibilities offered by Company B, Second Alabama Infantry, now stationed here on guard duty. After conferring with Capt. Hal Halstead he persuaded the genial commander of the guard to be an accomplice to the frame-up against Mr. Lingenfelter.

When the visitor stepped off the train he was met by the stern countenance of Capt. Halstead who asked him if his name was not Lingenfelter and his home Cincinnati. He then informed Mr. Lingenfelter he would have to be detained at the militia camp on general suspicion of being an alien enemy.

"Anybody who has a name like that is in danger in these perilous times," quoth Capt. Halstead, "so you'd better come along with me."

No amount of argument on the part of the worried and harassed Mr. Lingenfelter would dissuade Captain Halstead from his intention of arresting him as a spy and it was only when the circle of conspirators broke out in laughter that the Ohio man realized the joke was on him.

"There is one thing certain," said Mr. Lingenfelter this morning in laughing over the incident, "I am going to appear before the next session of the Ohio legislature and get my name changed or I am going to get a letter from the governor of Ohio telling the public generally that I am a loyal American, despite my name."

But as Luke McLuke, of Mr. Lingenfelter's home town says: "Names is names."

Calvin Urged To Send Potato Eyes By Calera Woman

J. H. Calvin, whose offer to distribute the eyes of Irish potatoes if sent to him by housewives who save them up in their daily parings, has attracted much attention, today received an appeal from a woman residing at Calera, Ala., more than 50 miles south of Birmingham. In the letter it was stated: "I am a widow woman and have five little children to work for. I managed to get a half of one peck of potato seed and planted them and they all rotted in the ground. It looks like starvation at my home now, everything is so high." Mr. Calvin will make a special effort to fill this order. He still asks the public to send him potato eyes for free distribution.

'Old Wash', Trotwood Moore's Character Is Dead At Columbia

"Old Wash," famous all over the United States as the hero of John Trotwood Moore's songs and stories, is dead at Columbia, Tenn., according to news received here today. "Old Wash" in private life was an old-time dandy, named Webster, and was 70 years of age. He is second in literary fame to Joel Chandler Harris' "Uncle Remus." The old negro was very popular among both whites and negroes.

URGENT NEED FOR THE GROWING OF FOOD CROPS

By J. F. Dugger, Director of Alabama Experiment Station and Extension Service.

Prepared by Extension Service, Auburn, Ala.
Faced as this nation is by present foreign problems and by the world-wide scarcity of food crops, there was probably never before a greater need for the planting of every crop suitable for human food that will mature promptly. Every farm should grow more than enough vegetables for the maximum use of the dwellers on that farm. The surplus is usually good hog food.

While caution is needed in the growing of perishable truck crops for market by those unaccustomed to such ventures, yet no such risk is involved in growing a larger acreage than usual of the staple farm products. Among these we should rank corn, sweet potatoes, and cowpeas, as possibly the most generally practicable summer crops suitable for human food, as well as being suitable for feeding livestock.

To these should be added beans and the usual garden vegetables. As necessary for increasing the supply of meat, especially of pork, the South needs this year a larger acreage than ever before, not only of corn, but also of velvet beans, soy beans, sorghum, and all the other well known forage crops.

Revolution Threatens the Central Powers

(International News Service.)
London, April 20.—In an article in the Morning Post today it is declared that revolution within six months is threatened in Germany and Austria. The allies—especially the dual monarchy, Bulgaria and Turkey—are near collapse according to the Post. Meanwhile the strike situation in Germany seems less acute.

COAL FAMINE IN FALL EXPECTED

IMPOSSIBLE NOW TO MAKE A PRICE AFTER SEPTEMBER.

A coal famine is a possibility of this fall.

Owing to the war and the probable commandeering of coal for the use of the government, the unsettled labor conditions, and conditions generally, the mines are already refusing to make prices after September.

There is also a strong possibility of a car shortage, as the rolling stock of the railroads may be tied up in moving troops and troop supplies. After the army bill is passed the formation of a gigantic army will begin. Millions of men may be called to the colors.

There was a car shortage this year, in times of peace. Think of the possibilities in time of war!

We desire to protect our customers, and for this reason are urging them to lay in their coal supply now, while coal can be obtained at prices much lower than may rule later on.

They will also be required to sign the muster roll, and will be sworn into the service.
